

Kate Bradley

Associate

1111 Third Avenue
Suite 3000
Seattle, WA 98101

T 206.447.7908
F 206.447.9700
kate.bradley@foster.com

Kate is an associate focusing her practice on labor, employment and litigation.

A Washington local, she attended Washington State University before graduating in the top 10 percent from the University of Washington School of Law. At UW Law, Kate was an Executive Editor for Washington Law Review and published a comment on litigating harassment under federal laws. Additionally, she was a member of the Mediation Clinic where she spent time mediating for clients in Small Claims Court.

Kate has worked in personal injury and gained experience as a Foster Garvey Summer Associate and as a Legal Extern in the Labor & Employment Section of the Seattle City Attorney's Office.

Education

J.D., University of Washington School of Law, 2023

- CALI Award for Pre-Trial Practice and Transnational Law
- Order of the Coif
- Washington Law Review, Executive Notes and Comments Editor

B.A., Washington State University, History, 2019

- Howard C. Payne Award for Excellence in Research
- Regents Scholar

Services

Labor, Employment &
Immigration
Litigation

Admissions

Washington, 2023

News

Foster Garvey Welcomes 2023 Fall Class in Seattle and New York
Foster Garvey Newsroom, 9.18.23

Speaking Engagements

Foster Garvey Hosts Session 2 of Policy to Practice Educational Series
Event
10.16.24

43rd Annual Civil Service Conference
Event
October 1-2, 2024

Legal Alerts

Breaking Update: FTC's Noncompete Ban and What It Means for Washington
4.24.24

Important Changes to Washington's Noncompete Law
3.25.24

What Employers Should Know About the NLRB's New Joint Employer Rule 3.13.24

Publications

Beyond Title VII: Litigating Harassment by Nonemployees Under the ADA and ADEA
Washington Law Review, 3.1.23